Retail Management System Bridge Software

If you want to streamline your point-of-sale processing by integrating debit and credit card transactions into your existing payment processing solution, then the TD Merchant Services Retail Management System Bridge Software may be right for you.

This bridge software integrates with Microsoft Dynamics™ Retail Management Systems (RMS) so that TD Merchant Services¹ can offer you comprehensive card processing as part of a complete point-of-sale solution designed for independent merchants.

Features and Benefits

- Save money – you don't have to pay for the TD Merchant Services Retail Management System Bridge Software and you'll get competitive rates on debit and credit card processing
- Save time – a broadband Internet connection can free up your phone lines and let you process card transactions in as little as two to four seconds. Integrating your credit and debit card transaction processing eliminates data re-entry at the point of sale and simplifies transaction reconciliation at the end of the day and month
- Simplify the transaction process – this solution eliminates the need for separate debit and credit card payment terminals and the associated phone lines because everything runs through your PC. This makes things easier for your staff, helps reduce labour costs and frees up valuable counterspace in your store
- Increase efficiency – your debit and credit card transactions can be deposited directly into a TD Canada Trust business account as early as the next business day
- Increase customer satisfaction – fast, integrated merchant services let you process transactions for a wide range of credit cards and offer customers the efficient, consistent service that keeps them coming back
- Target customers effectively – you can access customer histories at the point of sale so you can offer appropriate up-sell and cross-sell opportunities
- Automate inventory and purchasing management – you can track and manage inventory using any stock and sales method and generate purchase orders quickly and easily
- Analyze business data – a wide range of flexible reporting options lets you access, analyze and share data across your entire business, including multiple store locations
- Scale your solution to fit your business – this flexible solution lets you adapt efficiently as your business grows
- Protect your investment – Microsoft Dynamics RMS is available through Microsoft® Certified Partners so you'll get the support and maintenance you need
